Insider Risk E-Learning

An introduction to Insider Risk

Our Introduction to Insider Risk e-learning delivers a focused, 25-minute interactive training that builds foundational understanding across your entire organisation. Designed for both individual learners and entire organisations, it ensures everyone from frontline staff to team leaders grasp insider risk and their role in its mitigation.

The course offers:

- Clear learning objectives that break down crucial insider risk concepts into accessible insights
- Practical strategies employees can apply immediately to be your first line of defence
- Tools to detect and respond to suspicious behaviour

I used Signpost Six's e-learning to get a better understanding of the principles of insider risk management and how to incorporate best practices in my daily works. The module was tailored to my level of expertise and pragmatically guided me through the basics, providing me with an excellent introduction on the topic and useful tools. The course fundamentally changed my perspective on asset identification, risk analysis and mitigation procedures that I actively use for my organization and myself. Given the paramount importance of the topic and their level of expertise, I can highly recommend these courses to anyone and any organization.

What Are Insider Acts?

Insider acts are harmful acts by insiders causing damage to the organisation, its assets, people and reputation, and making it difficult for the organisation to continue serving clients and shareholders. Insider acts can be broken down into six major categories. Click on them to learn more.

Data theft

Data theft is an insider's use of access to steal or exploit data, material and intellectual property (IP) from an organisation. This data can be stored on premises, computers, servers, or other devices with the intent to compromise privacy or obtain confidential information.
